

ABSTRACT

Herein disclosed is a finger ring interconnected to a pick in combination, each of which may be removably yet fixedly interconnected together by a tether. We provide various embodiments and/or accessory options, including use of a magnet for attaching the device onto a metallic surface when not in use and/or the tether is retractable within the ring if so desired.